classrooms. We are hoping to use the "Peace Corners" to help transform the culture within our classrooms. In Mr. Litt's 4th/5th class, both classes are practicing multiples and multiplication fluency in order to build their skills with fractions. Mr. Litt has been studying Marilyn Burns who claims that "drill and kill" or straight memorization does not embed the visual relationship needed for multiplication fluency. They will do some straight memorization mixed with new methods. Here's a link to "subitized flash cards". Subitize means to access a number as a visualization. Subitized Flash Cards click here. Here is also a link to Graham Fletcher's video on the progression of Multiplication as he sees it from a conceptual point of view. Mr. Litt teaches multiplication using the "box" method and this video explains why: <https://gfletchy.com/2015/12/18/the-progression-of-multiplication/>
