What is Peace?

Peace means a time without a fight or war. Everyone should have the same rights as everyone else whatever your color, however you look ,even where your from does not matter.This is not just for people but countries and states need to have peace in between them.Think of one thing people need to have peace in.

This has been happening since the world was a place.And it is still happening. The states need harmony because if there is not any, wars can happen and different countries can help each other when they are in need. For example, Ethiopia and Eritrea in East Africa were in war for 20 years but now they have made peace . This peacefulness is important to me because half of my family is from Ethiopia and the other half is from Eritrea.My mom grew up in war so i don't like to hear kids having to be in the middle of war.They should be in a safe place where they can play.This happens all over the world.It could take a lot of effort.

The problem is that you can not do this alone. you need help.It sounds simple but it is hard.You need to find people who share your interest. My favorite quote from Lyndon B. Johnson is, "Peace is a journey of a thousand miles and it must be take one step at a time."I like this quote because it feels like a real journey and it does really must be take one step at a time to be successful.

Finally anyone can start peace, I Know what peace means.So now I have a question for You.What does peace mean to you?
